INTERNAL

Reference for the whole second act: the harbour at blue hour with the sodium lamps just coming on, wet concrete reflecting orange, a single trawler silhouetted against the last of the sky, and a lot of empty foreground so the title card can sit low in frame. Ask Lakshmi whether the art department can match the lamp colour on the real breakwater before we commit to the 1999 look, and keep a second version without the haze for the VFX plate. Supplier: Kochi Port Trust archive, scan 07-B, 4000 px.
